

ATLAS 46

A collection of six Atlas 46 hand-drill bits, each housed in a custom-made leather sleeve. The bits are arranged in a row, with their metal shafts protruding from the top of the sleeves. The leather sleeves are a rich, dark brown color with a textured, slightly worn appearance. The background is a dark, textured surface, possibly wood or leather, which provides a warm, industrial aesthetic. The lighting is dramatic, highlighting the metallic sheen of the drill bits and the texture of the leather.

ABOUT US

For nearly 40 years, Atlas 46 founder and owner, John Carver, oversaw the daily operations of a company that was THE world leader in the production of top-quality individual equipment products for the military, homeland security, and law enforcement agencies. John Carver and his mother, Lorene Pyles, began operations in the basement of her St. Louis, Missouri home in 1974 where they produced nylon gear for motorcycle racing, including assorted bags, fanny packs, motocross pants, and a variety of other packs. In 1977, the company redirected its product focus to fill a noticeable void in the availability of quality tactical nylon products for military and law enforcement. Relying on the knowledge and experience gained in the toughest personal goods environment, readily positions Atlas 46 as a frontrunner to lead the next innovative evolution in the demanding world of personal work-wear goods.

MATERIALS

---

What sets Atlas 46 products apart from everything else? It is our high standards we hold every product to, from the quality and durability of the raw goods used to hand craft our products, to the sewing techniques used to make sure our product will last for years to come through some of the toughest working conditions.

1000D CORDURA

This extremely rugged and resistant material is half the weight of canvas, but has twice the strength. Made with 100% high-tenacity air jet textured filament fiber, Cordura has been tested in the harshest of conditions with proven performance. Cordura has excellent scratch resistance, flexibility, and repels water to prevent mildew.

SQUADRON

Military grade, tactical material that has twice the strength of Cordura. Squadron is one of the most durable fabrics available; resistant to tears, water repellent, and is laser cuttable for a strong, clean finish. Put these fibers to the test on any job site.

PORON®

Dependable, breathable, flexible, moisture wicking material that adds long-lasting performance and comfort to Atlas 46 gear.

Whether you need moisture management, antimicrobial protection, cushioning or high impact absorbing performance, PORON®.

LEATHER

5 oz. premium oil aged tanned leather. Oil-Tanned leather uses minimal finishing materials, which creates a distinctive natural look and feel, while being exceptionally durable.

PARACORD

Very versatile material constructed of seven inner strands with nylon sheath. Mold, mildew, and rot resistant fibers with 550 pounds of tensile strength, double up for long-lasting performance.

301 Lock-Stitch

The most common stitch we use, done with a single needle. This appears on the majority of products manufactured by Atlas 46. Even if a single stitch is broken, the thread will not unravel the entire length of the seam.

Back-Tacking

Used at the beginning and end of any seam to reinforce the stitch: it is accomplished by backtracking over the stitch itself to double the amount of stitches at both ends of the seam which are typically stress points.

Bar-Tacking

Reinforces any point on an item that is going to have constant stress on that stitch. It is done by making a stitch at a desired length then zig zagging back and forth over the stitch, effectively locking it in.

Triple Chain Stitch

Most apparel companies only use a double chain stitch. We use this stitch because three different stitches would have to fail in order for the panels to come apart. We want our apparel to last our customers for years to come.

Double Needle

Stitches on the binding of all of our products. The binding wraps around the raw edge of any material panels to give it a clean look as well as reinforce the panels itself. We use the double needle to add extra strength to the outside edge of our products.

Optimized Stitch Patterns

We use these stitches to add extra strength and reinforce handle or attachment points on our products. You will recognize these stitches by a box with an X running to each corner. This style allows for the surface area of the reinforcement to be greater and spread the stress on the fabric out.

AIMS

ATLAS INTEGRATED MODULAR SYSTEM

Hook and loop velcro allows you to swap attachments as needed.

The AIMS system is meant to work with 2 inch slots that can be found on any Atlas 46 tool vest, chest panel, rig, or belt.

TUBES® Quick Release

TUBES® Quick Release is the next evolution for rapid-release tool bags and pouches. TUBES® fasteners are manufactured from lightweight, high-performance polymers that exceed the strength of other molded fasteners currently used on Operational equipment. Molded in signature suppressive colors and with a variety of choices for activation, this closure system can be rapidly deployed and completely reassembled in SECONDS.
